Modern Day Martial Arts

30+ years of experience as a student, competitor, coach, and instructor, combined with classroom teaching, curriculum, and an understanding of child development has led to the development of this style rooted in the traditional Korean martial art "Tang Soo Do" ("The Way of The Empty Hand to Block and Strike"). These roots branch out to (Chinese) Shaolin, and (Japanese) Goju Ryu, (Brazilian) Jujitsu, (American) Boxing. Our art emphasizes both inner and outward growth, (self) discipline, power, control, a wide variety of blocks, strikes, and kicks. You will also learn practical and effective self-defense, how to deal with bullies, self-confidence, a little Korean, and some cool tricks. There is a class that's just right for you and/or your loved ones. Open to all ages 4 and up. Now 7 week sessions instead of 6!

HYDRO DAM RECREATION OPPORTUNITIES

The Ford Lake Hydroelectric Station (Hydro Dam), operating under the FERC Project #5334 is required to provide recreation opportunities to the community without discrimination.

The Hydro Dam's Recreation Plan is part of the Charter Township of Ypsilanti Parks Master Plan. Some of the amenities provided are: lake access for boating and fishing, playground equipment, fishing, picnic tables and shelters.

The dam and powerhouse was part of Henry Ford's village industries in the 1930's, built to provide electrical power to the Ford Motor Company's Ypsilanti Plant. Today, the electrical power is sold to DTE under a PURPA Power Purchase Agreement and generates enough renewable electricity equivalent for 750 homes on yearly average. The Hydro Dam also allows the Township to lower its carbon footprint by using the renewable attribute associated with hydropower.
